Subject: Request to Attend Commvault's SHIFT in Nashville

Hi [Manager Name],

Threats are evolving faster. Recovery windows are shrinking. And AI is accelerating both. That's why I'd like to attend Commvault SHIFT, taking place November 9–12 in Nashville.

SHIFT is Commvault's premier resilience conference focused on the AI Reckoning—a new reality where threats move faster; response windows get smaller, and organizations are under increasing pressure to stay resilient. The event brings together industry experts, practitioners, and technology leaders to share strategies, technologies, and playbooks shaping the future of cyber resilience.

How this benefits [Company Name]

Here are a few areas I plan to focus on to ensure we get the greatest return from this investment:

- Recovery Readiness: Learn practical strategies for improving recovery operations, reducing downtime, and strengthening resilience.
- Emerging Threats: Gain insight into how leading organizations are preparing for AI-powered attacks and machine-speed risks.
- Industry Best Practices: Benchmark our approach against peers and learn how other organizations are modernizing resilience programs.
- Actionable Takeaways: Bring back proven playbooks, recommendations, and ideas that can help strengthen our security and recovery posture.
- Go hands-on with the technology: Get your hands on real skills from labs, recovery exercises, and certification opportunities designed for the environments you actually run.
- Connect with the peers who get it: Security and resilience leaders navigating the same board pressure, team constraints, and evolving threat landscape. The relationships you build in Nashville will outlast the conference.
