Commvault® | Clumio
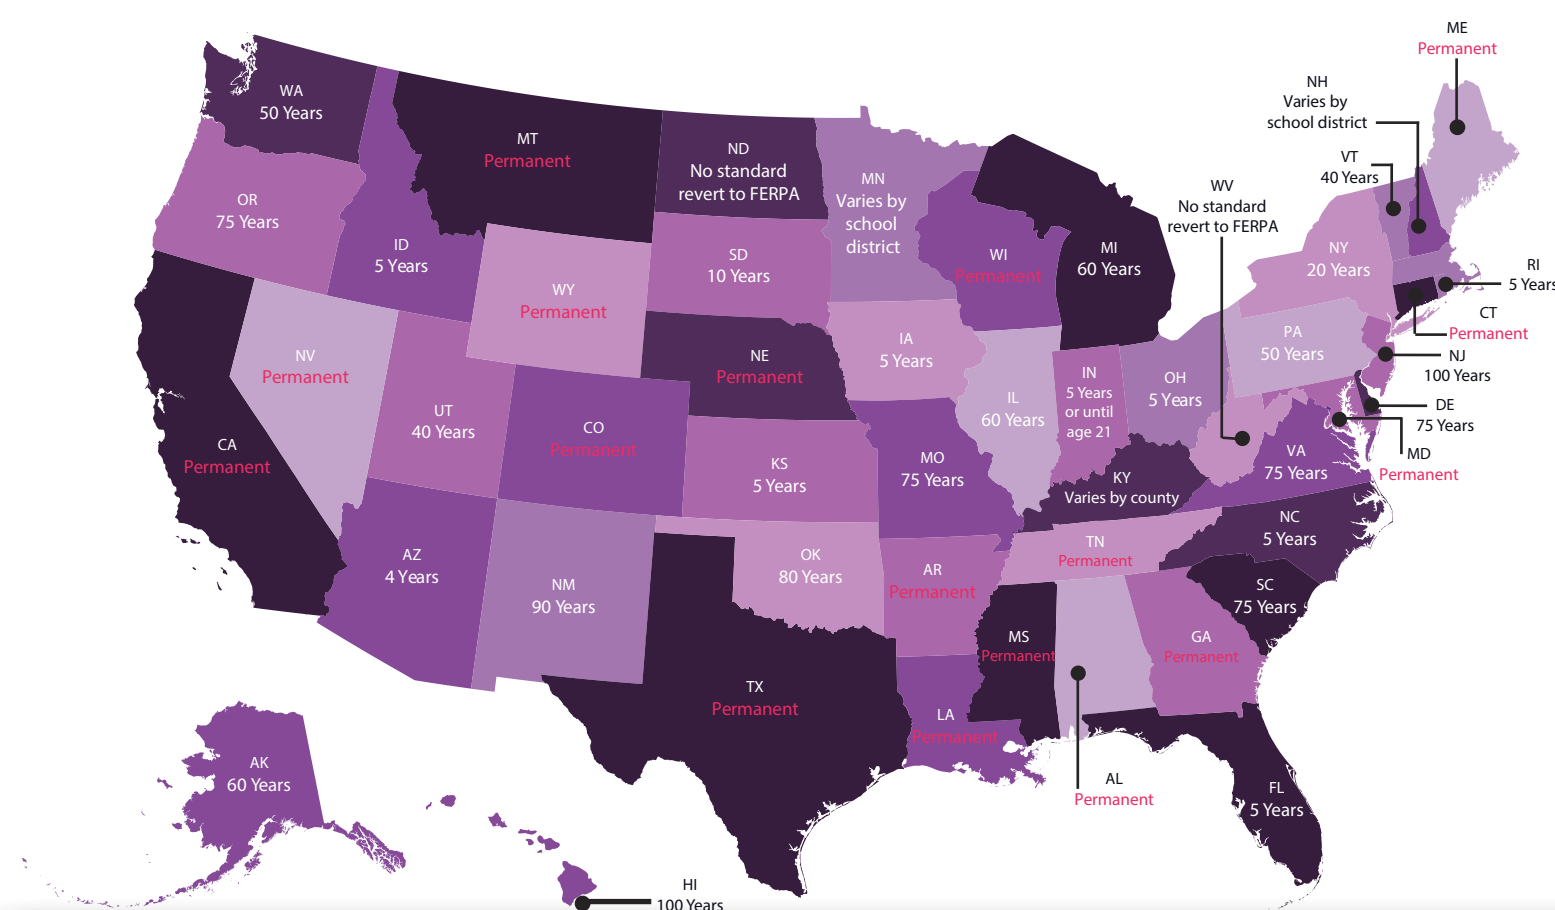

RECORDS RETENTION REQUIREMENTS IN EDUCATION

That's going on your permanent record!
Which means it has to be stored, and protected.

FERPA
(FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT)

Dictates a 1-3 year minimum retention period for different types of student data, but states often have their own requirements above and beyond FERPA. This map shows K-12 retention requirements by state for student transcripts. Other types of records may have different requirements.

WA — 50 Years
OR — 75 Years
MT — Permanent
ND — No standard revert to FERPA
MN — Varies by school district
WI — Permanent
MI — 60 Years
ME — Permanent
NH — Varies by school district
VT — 40 Years
NY — 20 Years
RI — 5 Years
ID — 5 Years
SD — 10 Years
WY — Permanent
IA — 5 Years
PA — 50 Years
CT — Permanent
NJ — 100 Years
NV — Permanent
NE — Permanent
IL — 60 Years
IN — 5 Years or until age 21
OH — 5 Years
WV — No standard revert to FERPA
DE — 75 Years
MD — Permanent
CA — Permanent
UT — 40 Years
CO — Permanent
KS — 5 Years
MO — 75 Years
KY — Varies by county
VA — 75 Years
NC — 5 Years
AZ — 4 Years
NM — 90 Years
OK — 80 Years
AR — Permanent
TN — Permanent
SC — 75 Years
TX — Permanent
MS — Permanent
LA — Permanent
GA — Permanent
AL — Permanent
FL — 5 Years
AK — 60 Years
HI — 100 Years

AUTOMATED DATA COMPLIANCE, NO MATTER THE REGULATION

With so many regulations at both federal and state levels, it can be difficult to maintain data compliance. Clumio has helped customers reduce their data management operational costs by 80% by automating data protection and compliance.

> As an institution with over 100 years of history and 100+ programs, we have a large data estate with web apps, media, and data stores. We chose Clumio for its managed backup SaaS that helps protect our EC2 and S3 data from ransomware and provides visibility for compliance reporting.

William Enestvedt, Unix Team Manager, Johnson & Wales University

JOHNSON & WALES UNIVERSITY

Learn More about how you can achieve long-term record retention with Clumio by Commvault.

Commvault®

commvault.com | 888.746.3849